

Hello Sir,

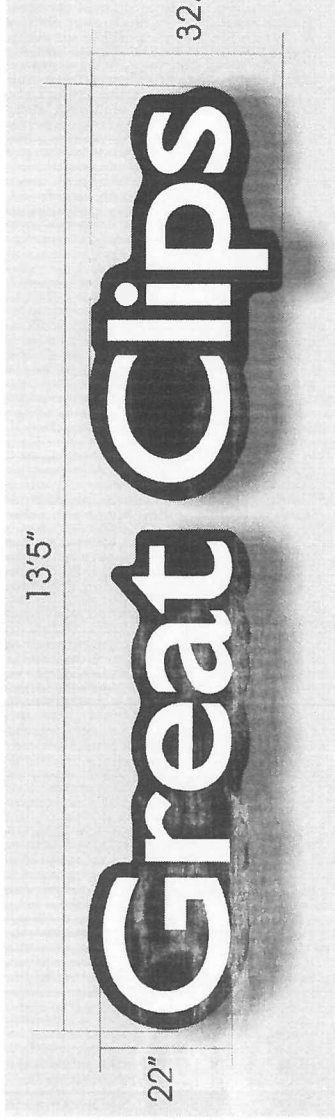

The facade of the building has a design that is such that they have a sign band (16x4) made of crème color stone in the center of the front section with the column on one side and does not sit in the center of the section. If I install the sign as per the current city sign criteria, it will be completely on one side of the section and will make the building look completely out of proportion and ugly.

The Landlord and the tenant next door MOD Pizza are both in agreement that I should install the sign in the center of the sign band so that the front of the building does not look odd and out of proportion.

There for I request a review of the plan and allow me to place my sign in the center of the sign band

Thank You
